Mrs. Rufus King, after a visit to Portsmouth, Va., has gone to New Haven to spend some time there with relatives. St. John's Episcopal Church in Bradley lane, was the scene of a charming wedding Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when Miss Carol Dunlop Frick, daughter of Mrs. Mary Worthington Frick, became the bride of Mr. Walter Wallace Talcott. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James Kirkpatrick, and a small reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Stock, in Bradley lane. The church was decorated with white and green blossoms and foliage. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Edna Frick and Mr. Stock acted as best man. The bride entered the church with her mother, who gave her away in marriage. She wore a gown of white satin with a large picture hat of white and carried pink and white orchids. The maid of honor wore pink silk, with a large pink hat and carried an armful of pink roses. After a buffet supper Mr. Talcott and his bride left for a wedding trip. Mrs. Frick, mother of the bride, wore a graceful costume of white and purple, and a black hat. Mrs. Stock wore white over pink, and a large white hat.

LIME GREEN FOULARD, FIGURED IN BLACK AND WHITE.

Foulard is one of the silks that has been received with special favor this season and here it is employed for a very chic gown for a young girl. The color scheme is lime green, figured in white and black. The skirt is relieved from severity by pannier-like drapery on either side and the snug-fitting bodice shows long sleeves finished with frills. The vestee is of white chiffon and lace. Tassels trim the high collar and the panniers.

Former Senator and Mrs. Chauncey M. Depew have returned to New York after spending six weeks at Virginia Hot Springs.

Mrs. Robert Wallack is spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cleveland Perkins, who have the Wendall estate at Hamilton, Mass., for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Waddell, of West Chester, Pa., are stopping at the Shoreham.

NORTH POLE DISCOVERY AGAIN CHALLENGED

"Who discovered the North Pole," and whether old "Doc" Cook is a monumental faker or an unheralded scientist, came to the front again in a resolution introduced in the House by Representative Helgeson yesterday.

In substance, the resolution would repeal the act of March 4, 1911, giving Rear Admiral Peary a pension of $6,000 a year and placing him on the retired list with an honored rank because of his polar discoveries.

The resolution sets forth that the discovery of the North Pole, and other Arctic explorations of Peary, are mythical and charges he is profiting from unearned honors. The geological charts of Secretary Daniels and surveys made by the government experts are cited as proving that Peary's records are not sustained by the facts.

Coming Attractions.

Keith's—Vaudeville.

Sophy Tucker, "The Mary Queen of Scots," with her "Five Kings of Syncope," forming a character song novelty, will be the featured attraction at Keith's next week. The second offering will be Ralph Riggs and Katherine Witche, as "Harlequin and Columbine," in a dance divertissement. Hawthorne and Ingalls will present another inclusion entitled "A Fool There Is." Other offerings will be Adler and Arline in a surprise novelty; Woolf and Stewart in "Two Flats"; "The Act Beautiful" showing William Eggerette with his posing horse and dogs in "The Hunt"; George Lyons, in "A Harp Intruder"; Albert Rouget the organ recitals and the Pathe pictorial.

Loew's Columbia—Feature Films.

Wallace and Cleo Ridgely will be the joint stars in the feature photoplay, "The House of the Golden Windows," at Loew's Columbia today for the remainder of the week. "The House of the Golden Windows" is founded on the old fairy tale of how two children living in a hut in the valley, see a beautiful house on the hill with golden windows. They decide to leave their own home, and struggle through the woods and brambles until they reach the top of the hill, and they find the big building to be nothing but a ramshackle old dwelling with the sunlight making the windows appear as if they were made of gold. When they look back down into the distance, they see that the golden windows are in their own home as well. The modern version of this story as pictured for the screen is laid among the green fields of California and tells us the story of Tom and Sue Wells struggling for riches, and how Sue goes in search of the house on the hill only to find that her own little shack has windows of gold.

Cosmos—Vaudeville.

The biggest hit at the Cosmos Theater this season, Lasky's Six International Beauties, an assorted variety of "Weary Willies" in a disconnected exhibition of tramp adventures and some very funny colloquies, will continue to lead the bill at the Cosmos Theater the last half of the week, although five novel offerings will enter into the new bill presented for the first time at today's matinee. Leading the new attractions will be the Hill-Ackerman Company in a collection of what are termed "odd vaudeville items" under the title "Shonense." The act is a product of the London music hall and comes heralded in the advance notices as something quite out of the ordinary. Fields and Hanson also will have something new in the guise of "a blackface instrumental concert with accidental comedy," and Nolan and Nolan will introduce new sleight-of-hand work with clever trick jugglery in a comedy atmosphere. Two other acts of the Cosmos standard will complete the bill. The added attractions will include the new issue of the Pathe News Weekly, with views of the New Jersey munitions explosion; a Pathe film comedy, "A Matrimonial Mixup," and the big Metro photoplay, "The Snowbird," with Mabel Taliferro as the picture star, the last name being shown only during matinee hours from 12:30 p. m.

The Sunday concerts will present a fine orchestral repertoire of high class selections, new specialties, film attractions and the Chicago hall game as reproduced on the electric scoreboard.

Garden—Feature Films.

Edith Storey and Antonio Moreno will headline the program at Moore's Garden Theater Sunday. Tomorrow and the day after next in "The Tarantula," a story whose locale swings from modern Spain to New York. The program on these three days will include a cartoon comedy, "Fashion's Art and the Garden," and "The Tarantula."

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday a triple feature program will be headed by Billie Burke in "The Floating Trap," a chapter of Rupert Hughes' film romance, "Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne" also be seen in "The Three Scratch Clue," and Harry Myers and Rosemary Theby will close the program in "The Tires Business Man." On Saturday, Ormi Hawley will head the double bill, "The American Prince," Mary Pickford will also appear on this day in "The Wisdom of the White Man."

Strand—Feature Films.

At the Strand Theater the headline offering on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday will be George Kleine's greatest film "The Sorrows of Love," which provides her with a finely conceived character befitting her undoubted ability. Laughter will be brought to the program by Senorita comedians, headed by Douglas Fairbanks, who will be seen in "The Mystery of the Leaping Fish." Special musical accompaniments will be rendered by the Strand Symphony Orchestra.

Glen Echo Park.

Visitors at Glen Echo Park will have another opportunity next Sunday to hear Sol Minster's big band in a series of afternoon and evening concerts. This organization made its initial appearance of the season last Sunday and the thousands of park patrons gave it their full approval.

In the dance pavilion in addition to the usual program the "spotlight number" has been added and this will be a night feature until the management substitutes the second of the features that are to be introduced during the rest of the season.

All of the two score amusements are running, and in addition there are a number of free features, the chief among these being the open air moving picture shows, where every night first-time films are shown free.

Daily outings by Sunday Schools and other organizations are scheduled, and Glen Echo is becoming to be known as the "Capital's Picnic Grounds."

COLONIAL BEACH CELEBRATES.

Interesting and Amusing Events Are Part of Special Week Program.

Many residents of Washington and vicinity are daily going to Colonial Beach to take part in the Colonial Beach festival which opened at the Potomac resort Tuesday. Yesterday there was a ball game between the Fredericksburg and Colonial Beach teams, horse racing in the afternoon and jubilee singers and cake walkers in the evening.

Today the features will be a baseball game between the strong Marine Corps team, of this city, and the Colonial Beach team.

Tonight there will be a baby show on the big dance pavilion and a prize will be given the prettiest baby.

Friday will have swimming contests, parades and an interesting political debate. The steamer St. Johns is leaving here each day 9 a. m. for the beach and arrives there in time for the events of the day.

It has been estimated that the sum of about a human being can detect the three-hundred-millionth part of a grain of dust.

ELEVEN MORE ENLIST IN D. C. NATIONAL GUARD

Recruiting Officers Attribute Increased Enthusiasm for Service with Militia to Fine Showing at Parade.

Eleven accepted enlistments mark yesterday's result of the District National Guard. The officers in charge of recruiting believe that the guard parade given a few days ago did great good in stimulating enlistment. Consequently it will only be a matter of a short time, they say, before the boys in the field will be numerous enough to be moved to the trouble zone.

At the Ninth street recruiting office seven young men applied for enlistment. They are: Clarence V. Rowe, of Washington; Chas. G. Hines, Easton, Md.; Samuel Cornelius, Washington, and John G. Wells, Washington.

HOROSCOPE.

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

Thursday, August 3, 1916.

Astrologers read this as an unfortunate day with many variable influences, Mars rules strongly for evil, while Mercury and Uranus are adverse. Neptune is friendly.

It is an unfavorable day for contractors, civil engineers and all who are interested in construction.

There may be new excitement concerning war and movement of troops, but the planets appear to promise that no serious fighting will take place where United States soldiers are concerned.

Advertising has a sign indicating strong controversies between editors and widespread campaigns of publicity.

Removals and changes are subject to sinister sway. It is well to pursue routine affairs while this configuration prevails.

During the next few weeks nervous disorders and nervous tension will probably be prevalent and serenity of mind should be cultivated.

Rheumatism may be common among the young as well as the middle-aged. Mars rules.

Accidents and injuries increase during this rule of the stars. There is a prophecy that explosive agents may be unusually dangerous during the next few weeks.

Trouble for the czar is pressed and he should safeguard his body and his health. Political honors for a woman are indicated. These will be national not local. It is prophesied.

The death of a man who has influenced a large following through the public prints is prophesied.

The growth of democratic ideas is indicated and the breaking down of social barriers again is foreshadowed for more than one European nation.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be careful of letters and writings during the coming year. Unsettled conditions are indicated in business and domestic affairs.

Children born on this day may be stubborn and quick-tempered. These subjects of Leo have the task to guide them.
